Rev. John McCloud is said to be the oldest preacher in the State of Ohio, and at the age of 95 is vigorous enough to preach every Sunday.

The Brooklyn strike, after costing a million or more dollars, has fizzled out and the strikers, as usual, have lost.

"How sponges live" was the subject of a recent lecture in Philadelphia. The general impression is that sponges live by sucking all they can out of other people.

The Augusta Chronicle remarks that the motto of every Southern farmer should be: "Raise at home every thing needed as a provision crop and reduce the cotton acreage."

The Princess of Wales has a parrot which salutes visitors with "God Save the Queen;" and the parrot means it about as much as the average Briton, who repeats it parrot fashion.

The colored brother has caught on to the hypnotic plea for the commission of crime. A Kentucky negro, charged with murder, admits the charge but shows a "hoodoo bag" as positive proof that he couldn't help it but had to do it.

Members of Congress get a salary of only $5,000 a year while some jockeys in the country get from $25,000 to $30,000. And yet some Congressmen straddle quite as much as the jockeys do, although they may come in ahead so often.

James G. Fair's $20,000,000 will has been stolen, and the impression is that it has been spirited away by some interested party. A very natural supposition if it was spirited away at all. But this doesn't look like giving other interested parties fair play.

It is said that the popular subscriptions to build a monument to the late James G. Blaine amount to only $50, a proof that the Republicans of this country take a good deal more stock in living than in dead statesmen. If each of the Republicans who in Mr. Blaine's life time had split their throats yelling for him, or licked his boots for favors, contributed ten cents there would be money enough to erect a very imposing monument to his memory.

The English sparrow has had the reputation of being pugnacious, but has not been charged with being vicious, but a case has just been reported from near Baltimore, where a captured sparrow was released from a cage, fiercely attacked an infant in the cradle and fastened its bill so firmly in the lip of the babe that the bill had to be pried open before the hold could be broken. The sparrow was then killed and the child died shortly after from something like blood poisoning.

The wool tariff organs quote "a Western journal" as saying in 1893 in Montana sheep sold readily at from $5 to $6 a head. This Western journal is a blue ribbon prevaricator. Sheep (unless very superior ones) did not bring from $5 to $6 a head in Montana, but even at the present price quoted the Montana sheep men are ahead of the Ohio unfortunates, who, according to the ante-election calamity howlers, were selling sheep at from 40 to 15 cents a head with no bids on fat Spring lambs.

The island of Manhattan isn't so very large, but there is plenty of room to build upwards. A twenty-story building is to be erected on the site of the old Herald office.

It is said that Queen Victoria has never been out shopping since the death of her husband. Perhaps the bargain counter has not been introduced in England.

Jerry Simpson complains that he is never taken as serious. Jerry has worn the chalk and the calico suit so long that people always expect him to play the clown.

SIX SMITH SISTERS.

A Pleasing Musical Entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. Last Night.

The concert given at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium last night by the Six Smith Sisters was highly appreciated by the large audience which assembled to hear them. This is certainly a unique and deserving combination of female talent. It is something unusual to hear a concert company composed exclusively of feminine voices, but this one includes in its make-up as good timber as can be found in some of the best male companies which have visited this city. Each and every one of the young ladies is a first-class musician and the music they produce, whether as soloists, in quartettes or sextettes, is of a high order and their selections are of a kind that do not fail to please.

One of the sisters, Miss Marguerite, is an elocutionist of wonderful ability, and it is doubtful if she has an equal in her particular line, which is the representation of the infantile or juvenile character. Her interpretation of it is simply superb, in fact she mimics the sweet innocent and bashful little girl and the brusque; stubborn and backward boy to perfection.

Miss Gertrude, another sister, possesses a sweet soprano voice of unusual purity and richness of tone and remarkable compass. She sang several solos and was encored heartily.

The concert was a success both financially and musically, and was entirely in keeping with the other attractions which have been offered by the Y. M. C. A. management during the past season, this being the last in the Elite Course.

DIED IN THE RIGGING.

Sudden Death of the Second Mate of the Barque Marion S. Harriss.

A Norwegian sailor, Chris Petersen, died in the rigging of the American barque Marion S. Harriss yesterday forenoon about half-past eleven o'clock. He was on the main topmast of the vessel, attending to some work, when suddenly he fell backwards and hung suspended in the rigging. Other sailors on the vessel went to Peterson's assistance and found him unconscious. As speedily as practicable he was lowered to the deck, a physician was called and everything possible was done to resuscitate the unfortunate man, but without avail. His death is ascribed to heart disease. After the Coroner had viewed the body it was removed to Evans' undertaker shop on North Second street, and was there prepared for burial, which will take place this morning in Oak Grove Cemetery.

Peterson shipped as second mate of the barque last Wednesday. He was about 33 years of age and had been on vessels running to this port some twelve or fifteen years.

Superior Court.

The Superior Court for New Hanover county, which has been in session for the past two weeks, adjourned yesterday for the term, after disposing of the following cases, viz:

Geo. R. French & Son vs. J. T. Williams & Cooper, A. J. Cooper, assignee. Judgment for defendant.

Mr. Davis B. Sutton, a young lawyer, was admitted to the bar, and took the oath before the Court.

Poor Jack.

The friends of Jack Dempsey now admit that the ex-nonpareil is a physical and mental wreck from drink. A physician, just before the fight with Ryan, advised his friends not to permit the exhibition. Since the fight Dempsey has twice tried to kill himself, once with a carving knife. Efforts are being made to send him back to his wife and two children in Oregon.

Physically, Jack was once a power, and, personally, he has been the most popular man who ever donned the gloves. But his race is nearly run, and he will doubtless soon join the "silent majority."

Denouncing Their Own Work.

W. W. Zachary, of Madison, who represented Transylvania in the House at the 1891 session, is in the city, says the News and Observer, taking a look at the menagerie. He says "if it were not tragical it would be funny to see such men as Marion Butler, Harry Skinner, Long of Columbus, Hileman of Cabarrus, White of Perquimans and others, who enacted legislation here in 1891, now here denouncing Democratic legislation—the legislation which they themselves enacted."

Sampson Court.

The Clinton branch train will leave Warsaw for Clinton on arrival of train 48 on the W. & W. R. R. from Wilmington Monday morning, Feb. 4th, for the accommodation of parties desiring to attend Sampson Court at Clinton.

COTTON MOVEMENT.

NEW YORK, February 1.

The rapid depletion of the gold balance of the Treasury, through the return of securities from Europe, based upon the idea that the United States Government were going on a silver basis, has practically overshadowed any events which have happened to influence the price of cotton, and the cotton market for the week has been practically controlled by the varying conditions which have been reported regarding the financial situation of the Government. It is no doubt true that the alarm in Europe has led to purchases of cotton here by exporters, who have felt that as cotton was used principally in Europe, remittances of cotton in place of remittances of gold would pay for the securities which have been returned from Europe. These purchases have had the effect of advancing this market, and each improvement has created fresh alarm on the part of the short interest and led to buying for that account. These purchases have been filled by Southern sellers, who have up to the present time held their cotton tenaciously, but now appear to be willing to meet the market and to sell freely on each advance. The recent severe weather in the Mississippi Valley and Texas, should have the effect of curtailing the movement of the crop in those sections of the country, but the Atlantic States appear now to be willing to dispose of the cotton which they have held during the entire season, with freedom, and the movement at those ports shows no diminution. In fact, a comparative increase over the previous week. The amount of cotton coming in sight each day is simply overwhelming as compared with the movement of last year and shows a constant increase upon the movement of 1893. We are now approaching a time when this movement must fall off or else the crop will exceed the estimate of 9,500 000 bales which has been current for so long a time.

We are also nearing the period when the question of acreage should be an important factor in controlling values; but there is as yet no positive indication that the acreage will be decreased to the extent which merchants have been led to expect. Of course if prices keep low throughout the planting season the disposition to raise more corn and less cotton will become marked, but at the present time there is no positive movement towards a sharp decrease in acreage. Uncertainty regarding the financial legislation of the country naturally prevents any material change in values, as most of the transactions are in the nature of liquidation of outstanding interests.

REDUCED COTTON ACREAGE.

Nothing But Diminished Production Makes Higher Prices For Cotton.

The nearer the time approaches when the planting of the next cotton crop will be inaugurated, says the New Orleans Picayune, the more important does the problem as to the acreage to be devoted to the fleecy staple appear. A well-organized effort has been inaugurated to secure a reduction of 25 per cent. in the acreage of the coming crop, and the experience which the farmers of the South have had with 5-cent cotton has prepared them to accept any reasonable plan which holds out a promise of advancing prices.

While the proposition to cut down the acreage materially is gaining in popularity, there are some people who profess to believe that the proper remedy for the existing depression is not to be found in a reduction of acreage, but in a readjustment of cost of production, so as to make it possible to raise cotton at 5 cents per pound. This would be tantamount to claiming that if the next crop should prove to be as large as the present it would sell at 5 cents, which means 4½ cents on plantations, which does not follow by any means.

The more probable result of such a policy would be a steady decrease in the value of cotton. The present crop, which was planted on a basis of 7 cents per pound, has sold at 5 cents; hence, if the same acreage, or an increase, is to be planted this year, the next crop would in all probability sell on a basis of 4 cents, or lower. In fact, with the promise of another excessive yield, there is no telling how low prices would go.

While the gradual reduction of the cost of production is the permanent policy which the South must follow, it is absolutely necessary, in order to elevate the cotton industry out of the rut into which it has fallen, that production be at once diminished, so as to afford a prospect that the existing surplus may find a market, and the relations of supply and demand may be again placed on a normal footing. There is now absolutely no prospect of an improvement in prices, except it is made apparent in the near future that the acreage will be materially reduced.

"GO WEST, YOUNG MAN."

The Mercantile Association of the Carolinas May Go to Charlotte.

Few of the wholesale merchants or manufacturers of the city were to be found in their places of business yesterday afternoon, says the Charlotte Observer of the 1st. They were all "bunched" in the Manufacturers' Club. They met there in response to the circular letters issued Tuesday afternoon, calling them together at that place. At 4 o'clock all were assembled in the library at the club. J. H. Weddington, Esq., was called to the chair. He stated that the object of the meeting was to see if inducements could not be offered Mr. E. S. Tennent, the agent for the Mercantile Agency of the Carolinas, located at Wilmington, to move his office to Charlotte. Mr. Tennent was present at the meeting. No definite action was taken, and the matter will be in abeyance for some time. Charlotte will offer all reasonable inducements to Mr. Tennent, and his coming is indeed "a consummation devoutly to be wished."

THIS CAT DIDN'T COME BACK.

It Caused a Horrible Catastrophe in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Jan. 31.—A cat upset a lamp early this morning in the house of Conrad Singlinger and set the house afire. Singlinger, his wife and four children escaped, but the mother suddenly remembered that her twins were left in the burning house. Although efforts were made to restrain her she rushed into the flames and reached an upper room where her babes were. She was overcome by smoke and the three died together.

Remember the free lecture at the Opera House Sunday afternoon. The object of "Our Lord's Coming" will be to eliminate from society all principles that are opposed to God's will.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

DEATH OF DR. WILLIAMS, MEMBER FROM WARREN COUNTY, ANNOUNCED.

Early Adjournment of Both Houses as a Mark of Respect to the Deceased—Bills Introduced in the Senate.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

RALEIGH, N. C., February 1.

SENATE.

Pursuant to adjournment, the Senate met at 11 o'clock and was called to order by President Doughton. Prayer was offered by Rev. D. H. Tuttle. The Journal was read and approved.

Mr Cook arose and announced the death of Dr. Williams, member of the House from Warren county, and moved that a committee of two on the part of the Senate be appointed to act with four on the part of the House to accompany the remains to the home in Warren county. Mr Cook paid a touching tribute to the memory of the dead. The motion prevailed and the President appointed Mr Cook of Warren, and Dr. W P Munn, of Edgecombe. Mr Cook also moved that the Senate adjourn at noon in honor of the memory of the deceased member of the House and this motion also prevailed.

Mr Mewborn introduced a bill to repeal chapter 314 of the Laws of 1887; also, a bill to establish public schools at Kinston.

Mr White, a bill to amend the public school law of North Carolina.

Mr Carver, a bill to authorize the city of Fayetteville to establish and operate a system of electric lights and motive power.

Mr Norris, to amend the Code in regard to buying and selling poisonous drugs.

Mr Moody, to amend the laws of 1893, regarding the Confederate Monument Association.

Mr Paddison, to amend the Code, section 1754, in regard to agreements between landlords and tenants.

Mr Rice, a bill to incorporate the New Hanover Live Stock and Poultry Association.

Mr Dowd, a bill to incorporate the town of Silverville, Mecklenburg county; also, a bill to incorporate the town of Biddleville; also, a bill to incorporate "The Retreat;" also, to authorize the city of Charlotte to purchase the fair grounds.

Mr Grant, a bill to amend section 3133, chapter 34, of the Code, as to the practice of medicine.

Bill to change the name of the town of Ramoth to Woolsey passed third reading.

Bill authorizing the Clerk of Court of New Hanover county to be absent from his office for sixty days, if necessary, to receive surgical treatment, and providing for a responsible deputy to act in his place, was explained by Mr Rice. He said that Col Taylor, the Clerk of the Court, wished to go North to have a surgical operation performed on his eyes. The bill passed third reading.

The Committee on Privileges and Elections reported unfavorably as to sending committees with power to send for persons and papers to investigate the contested election cases of Bryan against Mercer from Edgecombe, and Harris against Green from Halifax.

Mr Rice desired to know for what reason the committee had made an unfavorable report, and said that this Senate ought not to follow the course of the Democratic party and decide these election cases without getting all the evidence possible.

Mr Carver also favored the appointment of committees.

Mr Candler moved to lay the resolution providing for committees on the table. Mr Rice called for the ayes and nays. The resolution was laid upon the table by a vote of 26 to 12.

Several Senators explained their votes, and Mr Rice changed his vote from nay to aye, and announced that he did so for the purpose of moving a reconsideration. Mr Rice moved to reconsider the vote and to lay that motion on the table, and his motion prevailed. Under strict parliamentary construction such a motion is without effect when it applies to a bill or resolution which has been laid upon the table. So the resolution was left in the same status, i. e., on the table.

The hour of 12 having arrived the Senate now adjourned till to-morrow in honor of the death of the late Dr Williams.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The House met at 10 o'clock, the Speaker in the chair. Prayer by Rev. A. D. Hunter of the city.

The reading of the Journal was dispensed with, and Mr. Smith, of Gates, arose and in a few feeling remarks announced to the House the death of Representative S. A. Williams, of Warren county, and offered the following resolution:

Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring, That we have heard with the deepest sorrow of the death of Dr S A Williams, the member of this House from the county of Warren, who departed this life at three o'clock this morning.

Second, That a committee be appointed, with a like committee from the Senate, to accompany his remains to Warrenton.

Third, That we tender to his family and friends our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in their sad bereavement.

Fourth, That the General Assembly do now adjourn through respect for his memory until 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

Mr French moved that the committee to accompany the remain sconsist o flour on the part of the House and two on the part of the Senate, which was adopted, and the Chair appointed on the part of the House L L Smith, R P Williams, J D Yates and John McLean.

The resolutions were then adopted unanimously, and the House at 1.20 adjourned.

The following members were granted leaves of absence: Messrs. McCall. Alexander and McKenzie till Monday, Taylor and Lee till Tuesday, Petree, Nelson end Baker till Wednesday, White and Duffie till Tuesday, and Roscoe indefinitely.

It is said that the Scotland county bill was declared laid upon the table by an erroneous ruling of the Speaker yesterday, and that when the bill again comes up the ruling will be reversed and the bill will be before the House in its original status.

[Special Star Telegram.]

WINSTON, N. C., February 1, 1895.—Misses Wood, Chadbourn and Bell, of Wilmington, took prominent parts in the annual mid-winter concert given last evening and to-night at Salem Female Academy. These concerts are always the chief winter musical events given in North Carolina, and never fail to attract large audiences. The closing chorus was rendered by two hundred voices.

THE LATE MRS. ENGELHARD.

The following from the Raleigh News and Observer gives some interesting particulars in addition to those given in the STAR of yesterday, concerning the late Mrs. Engelhard:

Mrs. Margaret Cotten Engelhard, relict of the late Joseph A. Engelhard, Secretary of State, died at her residence on South Salisbury street yesterday morning at 3 45 o'clock. For several days she suffered with la grippe, which quickly developed into pneumonia and caused her death. Her son, Mr. E. B. Engelhard, and her daughter, Mrs. Hal M. Worth, were at her bedside when the end came. Her son, Mr. John R. Engelhard, who resides in Kentucky, was telegraphed for, but arrived only this morning. Her brother, Gen. John Cotten, of Tarboro, arrived yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Engelhard was the daughter of the late Mr. John W. and Mrs. Laura P. Cotten. Her mother was the sister of the late Governor H. T. Clark. Her father moved to Raleigh from Edgecombe, purchased the well known "Cotten place" on Newbern avenue, and it was here as a young lady that she reigned a belle. She was early married to Capt. Engelhard. After the war, they resided in Wilmington until her hus and was elected Secretary of State in 1876. Coming back to her old home then, Mrs. Engelhard has since resided in Raleigh. She could not be induced to go away except for a short time, because she desired to be near the cemetery where her husband was buried. No day ever passed, when she was in health, that she did not visit his grave and find her sweetest comfort in honoring his memory. Mrs. Engelhard was sixty years of age, and had not been strong for a number of years. She was a member of the Episcopal Church.

Knights of the Golden Eagle.

Mr. Jacob H. Aull, the Supreme Chief of the World of the Order of Knights of the Golden Eagle, arrived here yesterday afternoon from Baltimore, Md. Upon invitation he delivered an address at the hall of the Golden Eagle, over Heinsberger's store, last night, reviewing the works and affairs of the Order and stating the fine condition of the lodges which he had visited. The members of Stonewall Jackson Castle No. 2, and Concordia Castle No. 1, turned out in full force to accord him a royal reception. After hearing reports from them he stated that both were in an exceedingly prosperous and healthy condition. He leaves this morning for Raleigh to organize a Castle there. He told a STAR reporter that he was much pleased with his visit to Wilmington.

SATURDAY MORNING, FEB. 2, 1895

PLEADING FOR UNITY.

In a speech recently delivered before some Democratic club in New York Senator Hill pleaded that Democrats get together, and declared that it was the duty of all good Democrats to yield to the majority and to cooperate with the majority for the success of the party and for the common good. In thus counselling Senator Hill spoke like a true and loyal Democrat, but he forgot that in the course he pursued in the Senate on the tariff question he set an example of insubordination, and showed a contempt for party discipline in striking contrast to the declarations made in that speech.

It is no excuse to say that in one case he acted as a Senator, while in the other he spoke simply as a member of the party to which he belongs, for if discipline be not binding upon a Senator when in accordance with the usages of the party the party speaks then it is binding upon no one. If this discipline may be ignored in one case and by one Democrat it may be ignored in all cases and by any Democrat who wants to ignore it.

It is the misfortune of the Democratic party, perhaps, that certain men within its ranks claim the right because they hail from a certain section or from a certain State which has been one of the pivotal States to dictate the policy of the party and insist that the sentiments of the majority shall conform to the real or alleged sentiment of that section or those States. This is the fact which has been growing more and more prominent year after year until now it looms up in such colossal proportions that no one can fail to see it.

Mr. Hill aligned himself with the Republicans in the Senate in fighting the income tax and after its adoption aligned himself with the obstructive contingent of the Republican Senators in the effort to prevent its enforcement. He did this because he professed to believe that the passage and enforcement of the income tax provision would make New York a Republican State. For the same reasons Democratic Senators and Representatives from Eastern States have been antagonizing the majority of the party on the financial question because they feared that the policy advocated by the majority would prove detrimental to the Democratic party in those States. This course has been so determinedly and so persistently pursued that the opinion has become prevalent outside of those States that on the essential questions which now divide the parties the Eastern Democracy stands a good deal closer to the Republican party than it does to the Democratic party, and this feeling augurs no good to the Democratic party in the futnre.

While the tariff question was before the country that was an issue that absorbed attention, and for the time being subordinated other questions, but that being now practically out of the way the financial question looms up and with that the silver question as the most exciting factor in it. There was a time when that question could have been side tracked and made a matter of minor importance, but that time has gone by, and silver will now be the issue between the parties, the factor of more dissension in the Democratic party, and dissension in the Democratic party means the opportunity of the Republican party, which has no dissensions in it, and no factions on public questions, but stands solid and united under cool headed, crafty, able and alert leadership.

If when the extraordinary session of Congress was convened to repeal the Sherman act the Democratic Representatives and Senators from the South and the West had demanded the repeal of the State bank tax as a preliminary to supporting the repeal of the Sherman law they might have been successful, have secured the repeal, which would have opened the way for the establishment of State banks in those States which needed more money than they had in circulation, and this would have at once relegated the silver question to a subordinate position, and prevented it from ever more being an exciting factor in our national politics.

That was the course the STAR advocated then, and if it had been followed there would either have been no repeal of the Sherman purchase clause, or we would now have State banks, little or no financial agitation, and there would have been no such Waterloo as overwhelmed the Democratic party in the last election, and no need now of counselling harmony in the ranks, for the ranks would be united and solid.

In the next National Democratic Convention we will find two factions more pronounced than they have ever been, and more aggressive than they have ever been, one insisting not simply upon bi-metallism and a parity between the different kinds of money of the Government, but upon the free coinage of silver, and the other opposed to it. Neither of these factions will yield to the other; both will struggle to have its way; one or the other will be disappointed, and one or the other will come out of that Convention dissatisfied and rebellious.

As matters are running now, this is the way the outcome looks to us, and we confess it isn't a very cheerful one; but it is better to look things squarely in the face and not deceive ourselves. There were glorious opportunities before the Democratic leaders, but they could not or would not grasp them. We have paid part of the penalty of blundering folly, and may pay more.

MINOR MENTION.

One thing has been demonstrated by the financial discussion which has engaged the attention of the U. S. Senate more or less for several days and that is how much the Senators do not know about the actual condition of the country or of the Treasury. One Senator asserts that there is no deficiency, and no danger of a deficiency, but a comfortable surplus over and above the actual needs of the Government for current expenses. He makes this statement, he says, after a conversation with the Secretary of the Treasury, who so assured him. Another asserts as positively that the Government is on the brink of bankruptcy and the only thing which can save it and its honor is prompt action for relief by Congress, while others, who seem to be bewildered by these contradictory statements, offer resolutions asking the Secretary of the Treasury to tell the Senate just how the Treasury is situated, whether it is long or short; whether it is in need of help, and if so, how much; if he wants Congress to do anything, and if so, just what he would like to have. All the Senators may not understand the mode of keeping books in the Treasury, nor be able to understand the monthly statements it sends out, but it seems to us that as close as they are to the Treasury and with the opportunities they have for gaining desired information they could keep well enough posted to intelligently discuss a question as to whether the Government needs more money than it has or not.

* *

It is a matter of some congratulation to the people of this State, and also a matter of some dollars and cents, that the Fusion combine in the Legislature was floored in the matter of the public printing. Under the previous Democratic administration the printing was put up and given to the lowest responsible bidder, but when the combiners got down to work they concluded that they would dispense with the bidding process, and let the Legislature deal it out to political henchmen as a reward for services rendered. That was the programme, but the Democrats made it so hot that the Populists, who had been proclaiming for economy with open mouth, couldn't stand it when brought to the rack and forced to admit their insincerity and inconsistency or retreat. The result was they backed down, and when they backed down some of the Republicans who knew they could't carry the thing through without Populist assistance backed down too, and the outcome is that the public printing will go to the lowest responsible bidder unless some swindling is done in the manipulating of the bids. But be this as it may the people of the State are indebted to the Democrats in the Legislature for breaking up that job, and forcing the jobbers to abandon it.

The army worm comes in occasionally and helps to keep down the cotton output, but it doesn't come often enough, nor stay long enough when it comes. But the United States Department of Agriculture reports the presence in Texas of an importation from Mexico which may prove more effective as a crop reducer than the army worm, one that may do its work too well, and that will not move on and disappear as the army worm does. This is a weevil which bores into the cotton boll and destroys it, and which seems to be spreading with rapidity in that portion of Texas where it has appeared, with some danger that if proper steps be not taken to get rid of it, it may eventually spread throughout the cotton belt. With such crops of cotton as are now being made, Texas can stand considerable ravaging by this insect and not be much hurt, but every year of its presence makes it that much the worse, until it may become a very destructive pest.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— As the bankers are not content to let the gold stay in the Treasury after the President increases the supply by ordering a bond issue, probably a change of diet would help them to let the Treasury alone. Try feeding them on silver dollars.—Augusta Chronicle ,Dem.

—— Southern farmers may as well make up their minds that if the output of cotton this year is not materially reduced, they must prepare to get three cents per pound for what they have to sell next winter. The Liverpool buyers do not believe a word you say about acreage reduction and are already placing their bets that cotton can be bought a year from now at that figure.—Mobile Register, Dem.

—— The negro department at the Atlanta Exposition is to be an affair of, for and by the black race. From foundation to roof ridge the building will be the product of the black man's handicraft, and the exhibits inside will show the progress and skill of the black people. Interest in that feature of the great show is progressing. Negroes are organizing North and South for the purpose of promoting the enterprise. The scheme deserves and is receiving encouragement.—Savannah News, Dem.

Turner, who lived on Mr. W. A. Smith's plantation, near Ansonville, met with an accident which resulted in his death the Tuesday night following. The particulars are as follows: On the day mentioned Mr. Turner was running the engine at Mr. Smith's corn mill, when something got wrong with the shafting. Mr. Turner put the shafting in order but as he turned to leave it his overcoat was caught by the main shaft, and before the engine could be stopped the unfortunate man was whirled over and over by the machinery until finally his overcoat was torn to pieces and his body thrown against a pile of lumber near by. Dr. J. M. Dunlap was sent for and an examination showed that besides severe internal injuries one of Mr. Turner's ribs had been broken. He was removed to his home, where he lingered until Tuesday night, at which time death released him from his suffering. Mr. Turner was about 65 years old.

"THE LEAST OF THESE."

She had little of earthly beauty;
She had less of earthly lore;
She climbed by a path so narrow,
Such wearisome burdens bore!
And she came with heart a-trembling
To the warden at heaven's door.

And said, "There were hearts of heroes."
She said: "There were hands of might.
I had only my little children,
That call to me day and night.
I could only soothe their sorrows,
Their childish hearts make light."

And she bowed her head in silence,
And she hid her face in shame,
When, out from a blaze of glory,
A form majestic came,
And sweeter than all heaven's music,
Lo, some one called her name!

LET THE HUNTER DON GAY COLORS.

"You would naturally think that the hunter out for game would wear clothes of soft, unobtrusive colors harmonizing with the landscape," said the veteran sportsman. "Yet, stalking moose and deer in the Maine woods, I select apparel pronounced in hue and often wear a red necktie or hatband. This I do to lessen the danger of being shot through mistake.

"Of the great army of hunters that each fall range the woods of the Pine Tree State there are few that will not sometimes venture a shot into moving bushes on the chances that the invisible object that rustles them may be a deer. The fool sportsman, who is largely in evidence in the shooting season, will do so every time. If it be a man in the bushes, any striking colors of his costume are apt to catch the eye of the one preparing to fire and prevent the shot being fired.

"The danger of alarming game by such costume? That is not enough to be taken into account. Everything striking in color is more likely than not to excite their curiosity and draw them toward the hunter if he work with proper slowness and caution. Besides that all the antlered game trust almost wholly to their senses of hearing and smelling to warn them of the approach of danger, and if you can baffle those faculties you need have little fear of their taking alarm from the sight of you.

"But, speaking of costume, don't wear black, else every ninny, and even some experienced sportsman, seeing you among the trees, would let drive at you, believing he was going to bag a bear."—New York Sun.

Scotch Terms and Customs.

Everybody knows that the word mac (pronounced in Gaelic machk) means son, so that, for example, MacDonald literally means the son of Donald. But it is not generally known that when a woman is spoken of the highlanders substitute for mac the feminine nich, which means daughter; that the vocative of mac is vichk (we spell phonetically), which always replaces mac when a person is addressed, and that the nominative plural is michk (sons) or claun (children). Sir Walter Scott's ignorance of Gaelic frequently led him into error upon these points, both in his poetry and in his novels.

The meaning of the Gaelic word clan, as just stated, is children, and the obedience which clansmen owed to their chief was considered by them rather as the affectionate obedience due by children to a father than as that due by subjects to a ruler. They believed themselves to be all blood relations descended from a common ancestor, of which their chief was the living representative. The clansman who hesitated to save his chief's life at the expense of his own was regarded as a coward who fled from his father's side in the hour of peril. On the other hand, the chief was expected at all times to acknowledge the meanest of his clan as his relation and to shake hands with him wherever they might happen to meet. Subordinate to the chief and generally related to him were the chieftains and tacksmen.—London Spectator.

LIGHTING AND HEATING.

There is an important difference between warming the air and burning it.

Boil the burners in alkaline water once a year to remove the adherent gum.

For economy and evenness of heat put only a little coal on the fire at a time.

Keep the lamps filled, trimmed and clean in every part to obtain the best results.

The term "ventilation" is not by any means synonymous with a dangerous draft of air pouring into an apartment.

Systematic care of the lamps is better than all the patent "fixings" ever invented as a means of securing good light.

A good hot air furnace gives the best means for warming the ordinary home. A poor apparatus gives the poorest results.

The ideal temperature in a living room for healthy adults is 65 degrees. For small children it should be at least five degrees warmer.—Mrs. Arthur Stanley in Good Housekeeping.

A Compliment.

Two old schoolfellows met 15 years after their graduation and fell, figuratively, upon each other's necks.

"Well, well, dear old Smith!" said Green. "How glad I am to see you! What days those were! Ha, ha, Smith, you were the stupidest fellow in the class!"

"Yes, I suppose I was."

"And here you are now! Why," looking him over, "you haven't changed a particle!"—Youth's Companion.

In the mountains of Sweden, Norway and Lapland all vegetation would be utterly destroyed by the Norway rats were it not for the white foxes that make special game of the rodents.

The "great bell" at Moscow weighs 448,782 pounds, is 19 feet and 3 inches high and measures 60 feet 9 inches around the lower rim. The bell metal in it is worth $800,000.

HOW A MAN GOES TO SLEEP.

"Order is heaven's first law," and the old truth is manifested even in the process of going to sleep. When a man drops off to sleep, his body does not do so all at once, so to speak. Some senses become dormant before others and always in the same order. As he becomes drowsy the eyes close, and the sense of seeing is at rest. It is quickly followed by the disappearance of the sense of taste. He next loses the sense of smell, and then after a short interval the tympanum becomes insensible to sound, or rather the nerves which run to the brain from it fail to arouse any sense of hearing.

The last sense to leave is that of touch, and in some hypersensitive people it is hardly ever dormant. Even in their case, however, there is no discriminating power or sense of what touched them. This sense is also the first to return upon awakening. Then hearing follows suit, after that taste, and then the eye becomes able to flash impressions back to the brain. The sense of smell, oddly enough, though it is by no means the first to go, is the last to come back.

The same gradual loss of power is observed in the muscles and sinews as well as in the senses. Slumber begins at the feet and slowly spreads up the limbs and trunk until it reaches the brain, when unconsciousness is complete and the whole body is at rest. This is why sleep is impossible when the feet are cold.—New York World.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr G. Cailloutte, Druggist, Beaversville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in mys tore I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at R. R. Bellamy's Drug Store. †

would be a more appropriate name for that common cause of suffering—dyspepsia—because most cases of dyspepsia can be traced to food cooked with lard. Let COTTOLENE take the place of lard in your kitchen and good health will take the place of Dyspepsia. Try it. Every pail of the genuine

A Philadelphia Experiment.

The object lesson which the ladies of the Health Protective association gave the New York city authorities last winter when they set to work in good housewifely fashion and showed what their idea of a clean street was is bearing fruit in Philadelphia. The New York experiment is to be repeated there by the ladies of the Philadelphia Health Protective association, and the block selected upon which to demonstrate what can be done when women set about it is Twelfth street, between Chestnut and Walnut. On this block stands the beautiful clubhouse of the new Century club, a woman's organization, making it an eminently suitable spot to bear the imprint of woman's love of neatness.

Bound to Be a Portia.

Miss Isabel Darlington, daughter of ex-Congressman Darlington of West Chester, Pa., is bound to be a lawyer. She has already passed the required preliminary examination and been registered as a law student in the office of ex-Judge Thomas S. Butler. Miss Darlington was her father's private secretary while he was in Washington.

A Sure Remedy.

Passenger—Captain, can't you recommend any cure for seasickness?

Captain—Certainly, my good sir, and one that never fails. All you have got to do is to lie down in the shade of a tree in full leaf, and away it goes.—Schalk.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SATURDAY MORNING FEB. 2, 1895

TROLLEY TROUBLES.

Grand Jury Presentment--Non-Union Conductor and Motorman Mobbed.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 1.—The grand jury of Kings county handed in a presentment against the trolly lines this morning in the Court of Sessions. The alarming increase of accidents since trolley cars took the place of horse cars is noted, and the following recommendations are made: That the time schedule be changed so that the cars will be run at legal speed; that they go no faster than eight miles an hour; that passengers be prohibited from riding on the front platforms; that speed indicators be placed on every trolley car and kept in plain view; that the execuiive officers of the road be condemned for violating the speed law.

At 6 o'clock this morning a gang of strikers caught an unprotected car of the Third avenue line at Fifty-second street and gave the non-union conductor and motorman a severe beating. The conductor was Daniel Riskie and the motorman John Banks. The mob broke all the windows in the car and hammered the heads of the two men with the sharp edges of stones. Banks was so seriously injured that he was taken to the hospital. His injuries the surgeon says, are only scalp wounds, but they fear his spine has been injured from the kicking he got and from being caught by the throat and bent back on the motor railing.

GRAIN AND PORVISIONS.

Wheat, Corn and Oats Higher--Pork Product Lower.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, February 1.—May wheat opened from 53⅝c to 53¾c, sold between 53¾c and 53¼@53⅜c, closing at 53¼@53¼c—¼c higher than yesterday. Cash wheat was weak and ¼@½c lower.

May corn opened from 43c to 43⅜c, sold between 42¾@43⅜c and 43¾c, closing at 43¼c—½c higher than yesterday. Cash corn was ¼@½c lower, closing nominally firmer.

Oats—The close was firm and a shade higher than yesterday for May. Cash oats were weak at a decline of ¼@½c, but participated nominally in the strength of the futures after trading was over.

Provisions—A decline in provisions at the start, the outcome of lower quotations on live hogs at the yards, was only partially recovered before the close. It was but a small amount of interest that was shown in the business, the trading being of an ordinary character. At the close May pork was 5 cents lower than yesterday, May lard a shade lower and May ribs 2½c lower.

SPOTS AND FUTURES

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The following are the total net receipts of cotton at all ports since September 1, 1894: Galveston 1,438,867, New Orleans 1,981,894, Mobile 208 763, Savannah 773 408 Charleston 357 509, Wilmington 217 575, Norfolk 375,697, Baltimore 75.127, New York 140,444, Boston 44,177, Newport News 29.411, Philadelphia 77.186, West Point 236.167, Brunswick 86 602 Velasco 592, Port Royal 111,501. Total 6 152,921.

The Sun says: Cotton declined five to six points, and closed steady with sale of 95,000 bales. Liverpool declined one-half point, and closed barely steady. Spot sales were 7 000 bales, at unchanged prices Manchester was dull. New Orleans receipts to-morrow are estimated at 0 000 to 12 000 bales, against 6 293 last Saturday and 5 104 last year. Large gold exports cancelled. Silver unchanged here and in London. Savannah was easy. New Orleans sold 6,000 bales on the spot.

To-day's features: The bears took a turn at the wheel. It was reported that the Government had concluded negotiations for a very large bond issue. That would seem to dispose of the idea that gold would go to a premium, and thus lift the price of cotton and other commodities. Moreover, Liverpool and New Orleans were depressed; the receipts at the interior towns were large; the spot trade in this country offered no encouragement to the bulls; print cloths were quiet; New Orleans was selling here, and in a word bullish news was conspicuous by its absence, while bearish news was distinctly, as the French might say, "in evidence." German and Greek interests were selling here. There was some covering of shorts. The bears were more aggressive than the bulls, but both factions are proceeding on a very conservative scale.

CONGRESS YESTERDAY.

THE FINANCIAL QUESTION AGAIN DISCUSSED IN THE SENATE.

A Sensational Scene on the Floor of the House—Personal Encounter Between Breckinridge, of Kentucky, and Heard, of Missouri—New Currency Bill Reported from Committee.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, February 1.—The consideration of the District of Columbia Appropriation bill by the Senate to-day again involved an interesting financial debate, the principal speaker being Senator Teller, who, refefring to Mr. Gorman's remarks yesterday, commented rather vigorously upon the assertions of the Maryland Senator that there was a Treasury deficit of $100,000 000, and contrasted them with the President's message saying there was a "comfortable balance" in the Treasury.

Mr. Teller said the surplus was not there and he thought it was the right of the Senate to be told by the Treasury the truth about the matter. Mr. Teller's speech was of some length and several interpolations by Senators on either side brought out an expansion of the Colorado Senator's views and drew out as well the explanation from Senator Gorman that yesterday when he (as it might have been) used the word "revenue" measure with the understanding that such would be placed on an appropriation bill, he meant to use the word money. Mr. Gorman disclaimed any propositon to place on an appropriation bill a bill to raise revenue.

Mr. Teller said no legislation would go on an appropriation bill with his support. The putting on an appropriation bill, he said, of a provision for borrowing money is vicious and ought to be prohibited by the Constitution. Mr Teller was applauded upon concluding his speech, the peroration of which was delivered with much impressiveness Singularly enough the applause began on the floor, Senator Mitchell starting it and the galleries were not slow in showing a sympathetic chord of approval so that the presiding officer felt called upon to lecture them.

The debate of the day was closed to day by a short speech by Mr. Call (Dem., Fla.) who deprecated the attacks made upon the President and the Secretary of the Treasury, although he declared himself a believer in the free coinage of silver.

Mr. Allen (Pop., Neb.) presented what he called "the credentials of Warren S. Reese, Senator-elect from the State of Alabama," and asked that they be placed on file.

The Senate at 5 55 went into executive session, and a few minutes later adjourned until to-morrow.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

A very gray-haired man, violently struggling in the arms of several men to reach another man standing facing him, and amidst almost indescribable confusion, while epithets of "liar" and "scoundrel," were bandied between the combantants, was a scene on the floor of the House of Representatives this afternoon, those engaged therein being members of that distinguished and honorable body.

Hawaii, which has been the cause of some of the most tumultous scenes witnessed in the Fifty-third Congress, was the indirect cause of to-day's altercation between Messrs Heard (Dem. Mo.) and Breckinridge (Dem. Ky.), surpassing in sensational features anything that has been seen on the floor of the House for years. It was brought about by an effort by Mr. Heard to cut off debate on a resolution reported from the Committee on Foreign Affairs by Mr. Hitt (Rep., Illinois) asking information respecting the connection of British subjects with the recent attempted revolution in Hawaii, at a time when Mr. Breckinridge was attempting to get the floor to speak on the resolution.

Mr. Heard was anxious to proceed with the consideration of the District of Columbia business, for which the day had been set apart, and demanded the previous question. Mr. Breckinridge went over to Mr. Heard's seat and was seen to engage in a heated conversation with him, of which only the words "scoundrel" and "liar" could be heard more than a few feet. Then the burly and venerable looking Kentuckian was seen to lunge forward to strike Mr. Heard, but several members threw themselves upon him and prevented a collision by a severe struggle.

Both gentlemen were ordered under arrest by the Speaker and appeared later at the bar of the House, where they made explanations which ended the incident for the time being.

Mr. Heard's statement was not satisfactory to Mr. Breckinridge and common friends undertook to adjust the difficulty. The result of their labors was shown early in the day, when Mr. Heard rose and stated that his friends were of the opinion that he had not withdrawn the language offensive to Mr. Breckinridge, after that gentleman had disclaimed the language which gave him (Heard) offence, and that he would then do so, saying he had intended to do so in the first instance Thereupon Mr, Breckinridge expressed his satisfaction, renewed his apologies to the House for creating the scene, and begged the pardon of all concerned. The whole matter was, on motion of Mr. Goodnight (Dem., of Kentucky) ordered to be omitted from the Record.

The resolution of inquiry was adopted.

The new Currency bill prepared by the Committee on Banking and Currency was reported by Mr. Spainger, and leave given the minority to file their individual views on the measure.

The report accompanying the measure is supplemented by a copy of the President's message which was read to both Houses of Congress on the 28th ultimo. The report states that the message sets forth clearly and forcibly the reasons for the passage of the bill. "The committee," it continues, "could add nothing in facts or argument which would better portray the existing conditions of our financial affairs or more clearly demonstrate the necessity for prompt and patriotic action on the part of Congress in order to secure the needed relief."

The report then summarizes the different amendments agreed upon by the committee, and concludes as follows: "The extraordinary condition to which the President has referred in his message, and the necessity for immediate action, in view of the early adjournment of this Congress, have constrained your committee to concur in reporting the bill, with the proposed amendments, to the House for its consideration, each member reserving to himself the right to file his separate views thereon and have them printed with the report of the committee and vote on the proposed amendments and other amendments which may be offered in the House, and on the final passage of the bill, as he may determine."

At 5 o'clock the House took a recess until 8 o'clock, the evening session to be devoted to the consideration of private pensions.

President Cleveland has nominated Holmes Conrad, of Virginia, to be Solicitor-General, and J. M. Dickinson, of Tennessee, to be Assistant Attorney-General.

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action; but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently cure habitual constipation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

TREASURY STATEMENT.

A More Encouraging Showing as to Receipts and Expenditures—A Turn in the Tide of Gold Exports.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, February 2.—A somewhat more encouraging showing than for months past is made in the official statement of receipts and expenditures for the month of January. The receipts aggregated $37 804.399, an increase of nearly $7 000.000 over December last, and nearly $4.000 000 greater than January, 1894. For the seven months of the present fiscal year the receipts have aggregated $187,193.857, as against $175,-796 188 for the corresponding seven months of the last fiscal year.

The expenditures for January foot up $34 538.447, an increase over January, 1894, of $8.000 000, and for the seven months of the fiscal year amount to $221,475 927, or $1 000 000 less than for the corresponding period of the last fiscal year.

On February 1, 1894, the Trersury expenditures in excess of receipts were $55,000,000; on February 1, 1895, they are $84 000 000 in excess of revenue.

A turn in the tide of gold exports occurred to-day, and for the first day in several weeks the Treasury gained instead of lost gold. The net gain for the day was slight, being only $548,500 but it increased the reserve to $43 915 467. This increase was brought about by the return of $1 800 000 in gold to the New York sub Treasury by exporters and bankers who had taken it out earlier in the week. The withdrawals, however, continued on a diminished scale, amounting for the day to $1 257 500. Of this amount $1,350.000 was for export. During January only seven-tenths of one per cent. of the customs receipts at New York which aggregated $12 817,-827 were paid in gold coin or gold certificates.

GOLD EXPORTATION.

The Drop in Sterling Exchange Causes a Number of Shippers to Cancel Engagements.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—There was no new developments in the gold situation late in the day. A number of the shippers who intended exporting the metal by to-morrow's European steamers were prevented by the drop in sterling exchange, and have returned some of the gold to the sub-Treasury. The amount returned was $1,900,000, of which $1,800 000 was for the account of Lazard Freres. One firm returned $450,000 and another $150 000. Lyon, Hoffman & Co. have also given notice that they will return $1 000,000. It is figured that the Government will save $4,000 000 gold owing to the cancellation of shipments. So far as known Hoskier, Wood & Co. will export $450,-000, this gold having been put on board before the break in the sterling exchange market. There will also be forwarded $600,000 on a special order. At one time to day the engagements were $5,100,-000. During the week the withdrawals from the sub-Treasury were $11 670 000 for export and $3 403 475 for domestic purposes. Total $14 073 475.

CHINA AND JAPAN.

All the Land Forts at Wei-Hai-Wei Captured by the Japanese—Chinese Warships Not Taken—Peace Negotiations in Progress.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, February 1.—The Central News' correspondent in Tokio telegraphs the following dispatch from Marshal Oyama, received to-day, dated from Talien Wan:

"All the land forts at Wei-Hai Wei were taken. The enemy retreated beyond Funglinchi. The Chinese war ships were not captured and are still firing at us. I am inquiring as to the losses on both sides and am examining the prisoners and spoils. Two Japanese torpedo boats have been sunk and an iron-clad disabled. No foreigner has been hurt. Wai-Hai-Wei is quiet."

A dispatch from Hiroshima to the Central News says that the Chinese peace envoys were received by Premier Ito at the office of the Prefecture this afternoon. Viscount Mutsu, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and the officials of the Foreign Office were present and examined the credentials of the envoys and members of their suite. Besides the envoys only two Chinese councillors and two interpeters will be admittsd to the conferences. The Japanese Government has appointed Premier Ito and Viscount Mutsu as representatives of Japan in the peace negotiations

MEXICO AND GUATEMALA.

The Difficulty in the Relations Between the Two Republics Still Unsettled.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CITY OF MEXICO Feb. 1.— Don Jacinto Castellanos, Salvadorean Minister to Mexico, continues to deny that a Central American alliance had been formed

In her boundary dispute with Mexico, Guatemala relies on the preliminary treaty between the two Republics, dating from August, 1892 signed in New York and containing an arbitration clause, while Mexico rests her claims on the definite treaty of September 27th of the same year, signed in Mexico. In the latter treaty, the method of settling the disputed boundary is clearly defined,

The difficulties in the relations of the two Republics are by no means yet surmounted.

El Universal says to-night in an inspired article that Guatemala has not yet decided to fully satisfy Mexico's demands. The idea of the organization of the Central American Alliance against Mexico, made public a few days ago, is ridiculed by the press here. Jacinto Castellanos, the Salvadorian Minister, will be received to morrow by President Diaz.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

Uncertainty as to the Outcome of the Financial Situation Has a Depressing Effect.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, February 1.—Bradstreet to-morrow will say: Special telegrams to Bradstreet's from many of the more important points of distribution throughout the country make it plain that the uncertainty as to the outcome of the financial situation based on the rapid withdrawals of gold from the Treasury, has had a depressing effect on general trade. Mercantile collections at the best are characterized as fairly satisfactory, but in most instances are slower than usual at this season. This is emphasized by the fact that Baltimore jobbers are waiting results of sending out bills for last Fall's business before determining as to credits to be granted.

Honorable N. H. R. Dawson died at his home in Selma, Ala., yesterday. He had been one of the most distinguished figures in Alabama for many years. He was also a brother-in-law of President Lincoln, their wives being sisters.

Catharine Morrison, aged 25, committed suicide by cutting her throat with a razor in one of the confessional boxes in the Church of the Epiphany, New York city, last night. She is supposed to have been suffering from religious mania.

WOMEN SUFFRAGISTS.

Proceedings of the National Convention at Atlanta.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ATLANA, February 1.—In calling the Women's Suffrage Convention to order this morning, Miss Anthony used a gavel that was made from a piece of wood that grew at the homestead of George Washington, at Mount Vernon. She called attention to this fact and stated that the yellow ribbon attached to the gavel signified wisdom, a virtue that was deficient in the American Congress.

Two or three interesting reports were read, one from the Corresponding Secretary and one from the Treasurer. The Treasurer's report showed that $5,855 had been put into the treasury during the past year.

An invitation was extended to the delegates by Mrs. Wm. A. Hemphill to meet the ladies of the Woman's Department of the Cotton States and International Exposition at her residence Saturday afternoon between 5 and 7 o'clock. The invitation was unanimously accepted.

Dr. Shaw created a sensation by stating that she considered the criticism of Dr. Hawthorne beneath the notice of the Convention since he had refused to give any reason for his attack upon a body of strangers, and doubtless because he was not in the habit of entertaing logical reasons on any subject. Her speach created intense enthusiasm and seemed to voice the spirit of the Convention.

A telegram was received from the editor of the Idaho Statesman notifying the Convention that the Idaho Legislature had passed a bill submitting the right or woman suffrage to a vote of the people.

Miss Clay, of Kentucky, and Mrs. Meriwether, of Tennessee, read interesting reports of the suffrage work in the South and in the State of Tennessee respecively.

In behalf of the committee appointed to suggest a plan of work for the year, Mrs. Chapman Cott submitted a report in which the appointment of a standing committee on organization was recommended. The committee should have the power to organize suffrage movements in the various parts of the country, and $5 000 was the sum of money specified for their use during the year. A course of study in the science of government was recommended to be conducted on the Chautauqua plan. The report of the committee was unanimously adopted.

Then followed a collection to raise the needed sum of money. In the course of only a few minutes nearly $3 000 was subscribed. The remainder can easily be raised among the suffragists scattered through the country.

At the evening session of the Convention, which was opened with prayer by Rev. R. H. Robbe, quite a number of eloquent addresses were delivered.

Among these was one from General Robt. E Hemphill, of South Carolina, on "Woman in the Palmetto State." This was followed by an address from Mrs Alice Stone Blackwell on "Stronghold of Opposition." Among the other speakers were Mrs Caroline E Merrick, of Louisiana, who discussed "Woman as a Subject;" Mrs. E L. Saxton, Louisiana, "Club life in the South;" Rev. Anna H Shaw, "The home, the tap root of the State;" Lillie Deverau Blake, "Wife, mother and citizen."

An immense audience was present in spite of the inclement weather. Dr. Shaw preaches the annual Convention sermon at the Opera House Sunday afternoon.

Slight earthquakes were felt yesterday in the city of Naples, and in many towns of the Naples and Avellino districts in Italy.

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

FEBRUARY.

Month When 'Tis Easiest to Regain Health.

Get Strong Before Debilitating Spring Comes Again.

Feed the Worn Out Brain With Paine's Celery Compound.

LET CHANGING SEASON FIND SYSTEM IN HEALTH.

Take the Great Remedy That Makes People Well.

A perfectly healthy body has its parts completely nourished and its nerves constantly refreshed and stored with energy from the vigorous blood that all the time bathes it.

But to do this important work of conveying sufficient nutrition to the tissues, the blood must be kept rich and full of red corpuscles.

The only trouble with two-thirds of the men and women whom the coming spring will claim for its victims is a pitiful lack of proper nerve food. What these weak, nervous people need is a more general feeding and storing of their blood and tissues with fresh, highly vitalized material. There is undoubtedly nothing that can compare with Prof. Phelps' remarkable discovery, Paine's celery compound, for restoring health and strength.

The great body of physicians throughout the United States, England and Canada believe profoundly in it, and prescribe it in all cases of nervous weakness and debility. In preparing this greatest of all nerve tonics and blood-renewers, the eminent professor of Dartmouth College, Edward E Phelps, M. D., LL. D., had in mind the countless men and women with brains overworked and nerves unstrung by worry and lack of proper nutrition.

Clerks, their employers, lawyers, doctors, mothers of families, hard working men and women in every State and country, and hosts of brain workers—the most intellectual part of the community—are to-day taking Paine's celery compound, with the happiest results, to relieve themselves of rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous exhaustion, dyspepsia, sleeplessness and low spirits. Paine's celery compound cures diseases of the important organs of digestion, circulation and excretion, by purifying the blood, by regulating the entire nervous system and supplying the body with strength to combat disease.

Paine's celery compound makes people well. It takes away all the tremor and irritability from the nerves, and gives that calm, strong feeling of assured health that invariably accompanies a perfectly well nourished bodily system.

Get rid of languor, clear the muddy, unhealthy skin, plump out the body and get back to a normal, vigorous condition with Paine's celery compound, and begin now.
